WE WILL REMEMBER THEM

In Flanders Fields

In Flanders Fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses row on row.
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow.
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you, from failing hands, we throw
The torch, be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow,
In Flanders Fields.

Touring The Town With Amy

—Amy Campbell

Hi Folks! I'll bet you're all in a dither about Christmas shopping; and if you're not you soon will be. Lets see if we can help you along.

You can have your choice of Copper tone or Aluminum tone covers in the beautiful Wear-Ever Utensils which are designed for the utmost in cooking efficiency. The combination of tarnish-proof copper coloured covers and gleaming aluminum will add glamor to your kitchen. These utensils can be cleaned easily with Wear-Ever Cleansing Pads and warm soapy water. It would help if a wooden spoon was used for stirring to avoid marring inside satin finish. You'll find this excellent bargain at the Raymond Merc Hardware Department.

Ladies, you've always wanted a dainty nightgown, haven't you. The loveliest nylon tricot shorties in pink, blue, lilac, yellow and rose are selling in the Mercantile. Delicate leafy embroidery adorns the top, while little buttons run down the front. This nightgown has short sleeves and a small collar. That would be a fine Christmas gift. (continued on page two)

Citizens Show Little Interest In Memorial Day

The Armistice Day memorial services held in Raymond this year were very impressive but the number of interested townspeople who thought enough of the sacrifice made by the fallen of two world conflicts to attend the services left much to be desired.

The veterans, Legion Ladies Auxiliary and the Air Cadets formed up in front of the Legion Hall, under the command of Chas. Hippard, and marched to the Cenotaph for the wreath laying ceremony. Padre J. Golden Snow conducted the services there with bugle calls being played by Paul Redd. The parade and the small gathering then marched to the Second Ward Chapel where a short but very interesting program was held.

The services commenced with a prayer offered by Dr. Scott, United Church minister, and the singing of O'Canada, after which T. Geo. Wood spoke, addressing his remarks to all, but the little folks particularly.

He said that the fact that children were present was a gratifying sign to see because it meant that they had an interest in the history of our country. Mr. Wood told them that the reason for this special day was to have one and all, old and young, remember the valiant men and women who had fought, and even died to preserve freedom and liberty for our country.

The Second World War ended with the destruction of two cities with atom bombs - only two were dropped but they killed over 50,000 people - and the outlook at the present time is even grimmer because of the hydrogen bombs capable of destroying almost the whole world.

Mr. Wood expressed appreciation for the veterans and other organizations that carry on Memorial Days to bring people together so that unitedly they could work to prevent another war. He said that it was to be hoped that the time would never come that young men and women would never have to follow their leaders in another conflict. The Memorial Services are a symbol, he said, of patriotism, not flag waving, but of people living honorable lives in the service of their community and their country and in freedom. He said that every dictator who had ever bothered the (continued on page three)

CBC National School Broadcasts, now in their tenth year, provide interesting information for young student and teacher alike. Each program is planned by experts to suit classroom needs at times when students can best hear it. These school programs are not substitutes for classroom teaching, but supplement the teacher's efforts with dramatizations of history, descriptions of nature study, and character studies of important Canadian personages. Above, Mrs. Margaret Eckel, an occasional teacher at Lampton Kingston Public School in Toronto, tunes in on one of the programs for Peggy Nichols, who has recently come to Canada from England.

Oh girls the Broadway has the nicest 100% orlon sweaters. These Glenayr full fashioned Kitten sweaters come as cardigan and pullovers in several colours. One sweater in particular caught my eye - it was a deep wine shade with two soft pom-poms in white at the neck. Wouldn't that be smart for school or dress up?

For glamorous footwear girl's, see the Carrier Casuals at Burn's. These shoes are both dainty and durable. You can buy these flat soled shoes either in plain velvet black suede, stardust sprinkled suede or gold rimmed suede. They would look smart with your best suit or semi-formal.

Never put off until tomorrow what you can do today. Everyone wants family photos for memory. You can get good clear snaps both indoors and outdoors with the Kodak Camera and Film displayed at the Raymond Pharmacy. They also offer a bargain on Ansco Flash Bulb Camera and Ansco all weather film. Get some pictures this Christmas. Time flies. People grow up and change, don't delay take pictures today.

B-r-r! Can't you feel icy north wind chilling your bones like a whetted knife. How a warm heavy sweater would help. Why not knit one with the 4-ply Polar Bouquet wool on sale in the Broadway! This wool is color fast in blue, green, white rust, wine, black and navy; it is sunfast, moth proof, anti-shrink and water repellent. You'll be sure to find the design you want in the great variety offered. Curling designs, the palmino, the deer the Indian thunderbird, the fishing design and lofty sail boat are all for these Polar sweaters.

Pretty and practical! That's what they say who see these cute little frou-frou panties for baby at the Merc Over the water proof vinylite plastic is 15 denier nylon with soft ruffling in the rear. In all colors. The waist and leg band is covered with nylon and won't harm your baby's skin.

TELEVISION ANTENNAS

The installation of television antenna supporting structures adjacent to overhead power lines constitutes a serious accident and fire hazard. If the structure contacts the power line either when it is being erected or later under storm conditions, the full voltage of the power line will be impressed on the structure and antenna. Fatal accidents and fires have been caused by such contacts.

Persons erecting television antennas should wherever possible maintain sufficient clearances from power lines to ensure that no contact will be made if the antenna falls. It is recommended that the distance from the power line be six feet greater than the total height of the structure. Where such clearances cannot be obtained the structure must be securely guyed away from the power line. The company owning the power line should be notified when the installation is being made so they may have a representative present to temporarily disconnect the line, if necessary.

Details of safe construction standards for Domestic antennas exceeding 15 feet in height have been compiled by the Canadian Standards Association under Specification C22.4 No. 112. These Specifications are available from the Canadian Standards Association, National Research Building, Ottawa, at a cost of 75¢ per copy.

The minimum requirements for the installation of television antennas and lead in cables, together with the protective grounding required are contained in Section 54 of the Canadian Electrical Code, Part 1, Sixth Edition, which has been adopted under the Electrical Protection Act of Alberta.

"RUNT PULLINS"

HARLEM CLOWNS —

"Runt" Pullins and his Harlem Clowns are coming to town!

Their name more than faintly resembles that of the Harlem Globetrotters, but they have no connection with that organization. They are independent club that has made a reputation of its own. Where they have been seen before, they play to turn-away or standing-room-only crowds.

"There was a time," says manager Al "Runt" Pullins, "when the Harlem Clowns drew extra well because fans came out under the impression that we were the Harlem Trotters. I never fretted about this case of mistaken identity."

But Pullins insists the use of the word "Harlem" in his club's name involves no copyright infringement. Who he argues has a better right to the use of the word Harlem than he, as well as Abe Saperstein, owner of the Trotters?

"I was on the original Globetrotter team," explains Pullins. "We were all equal partners — Saperstein and five players, including myself. Each of us chipped in $15 apiece to get to the first town, Hinkley, Illinois, on our first road trip. That was 23 years ago. That first night we divided $8 clear profit among six of us — five players and Coach Abe. Each of us got $1.60."

"We kept doing a little better every year," continues Pullins telling his story. "After five years we were averaging around $40 apiece per night. It was still a six way partnership, all sharing alike. Then one night in Butte Montana, Abe told us he was going to put us on salary. We felt as long as we had all started as equal partners we should stay that way. So we split up and formed a team called the Globetrotter All-Stars. Later we were known as the Broadway Clowns and two years ago we became the Harlem Clowns."

The Harlem Clowns would dearly love a game or series of games with the Harlem Globetrotters and Pullins has a standing challenge. It has never been answered and that it never will be Pullins feels sure.

"Old Abe would have everything to lose an nothing to gain by playing us," Pullins reasons, logically. "We might beat the Trotters, I think we could. We have younger players."

The Harlem Clowns will play the Raymond Union Jacks on November 22nd, in the Recreation Centre, Raymond.

religious life of the people had been forced out of authority by the smoldering fire created by his suppression.

Our Freedom, said Mr. Wood, was purchased at great cost and the cost of vigilance and the living of straight forward lives. Wars are caused by sin economic and all other kinds, kill all that is good and the horrible price is paid by many generations.

Mr. Wood quoted from a letter written by Arthur Spencer of Magrath who is a veteran, in which he emphasizes the closeness and comradeship of soldiers during the battle and suggested that that unity should be carried throughout the world in a oneness of purpose to prevent further wars.

Before closing by reading a poem called "For The Fallen" Mr. Wood commented on the small crowd present, estimating that only 1% of the townspeople could see fit to take one hour a year to honor the fallen and that most of them there had sustained a personal loss.

After the choir's rendition of "Recessional" and the closing prayer by W. L. Nalder the congregation rose to sing "The Queen" and the parade marched back to the Legion Hall where pictures were taken to mark the event for future generations.

In the evening the annual banquet was held with a capacity crowd present to partake of the sumptuous meal and enjoy a very fine program. The evening was topped off with a dance in the Recreation Hall.

WHAT DOES PUBLIC WELFARE DO IN ALBERTA

The following is a summary of what may be regarded as pension plans for certain categories of Alberta citizens:

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

Under an Agreement with the Government of Canada the Province has, since 1st January 1952, been paying assistance up to $40.00 a month under a means test to persons in the 65-69 age group who have resided in Canada for twenty years or its equivalent.

Fifty percent of the assistance paid may be recovered from the Federal Government

BLIND PERSONS' ALLOWANCES.

Pensions to the blind had for several years been paid under the former Old Age Pension Act. On 1st January 1952 a special Blind Persons' Allowances Act came into effect and, under an Agreement with the Government of Canada, the Province continued to pay an allowance up to $40 a month under a means test to blind persons who had attained the age of twenty-one years and had resided in Canada for ten years or its equivalent.

Seventy-five percent of the allowance may be recovered from the Federal Government.

WIDOWS' PENSION

Since 1st April 1952 the Province, at its entire expense, has been paying a pension up to $40.00 a month under a means test to widows of the 60-64 age group who had resided in the Province for the greater portion of the three years prior to the date of application and had resided in Canada for a period of fifteen years or its equivalent prior to the date the age of sixty years was attained.

DISABLED PERSONS' PENSIONS

Since 1st June 1953 the Province at its entire expense, has been paying a pension up to $40 a month under a means test to disabled persons who have attained the age of twenty-one years and who have resided in Alberta for the ten years immediately preceding the date of the application.

SUPPLEMENTARY ALLOWANCES.

An allowance up to $15.00 a month is payable under a means test to Alberta residents in receipt of Old Age Security, Old Age Assistance and Blind Persons' Allowance.

MOTHERS ALLOWANCES.

These allowances have been paid in Alberta since 1919 to any needy widow with dependent children according to the schedules in effect which vary from $50.00 a month to $145 a month. A special allowance up to $10.00 a month may, in addition, be paid in cases where the need is apparent. The municipality in which the widow has acquired residence assumes twenty percent of the cost of the regular allowance, the Province paying the balance in addition to the special allowance. This allowance is payable until the child reaches the age of sixteen years or of eighteen years if attending school and making satisfactory progress.

HOSPITALIZATION AND TREATMENT SERVICES

The Province at its own expense, provides certain hospitalization and treatment services to Alberta residents who are in receipt of Old Age Assistance, Mother's Allowance, Widow's Pension or Supplementary Allowance. This is also available of Old Age Security under a means test.

The Province pays the entire cost of the administration of the foregoing services

OLD AGE SECURITY.

To persons who have attained the age of seventy years and have resided in Canada for a period of twenty years or its equivalent the Federal Government pays a pension of $40.00 a month without a means test.
